

CBA Alberta Board Biography – Tiffany Primmer

Originally from Newfoundland, Tiffany Primmer completed her legal education at the University of New Brunswick Faculty of Law and was called to the Alberta Bar in 2022. Since her call, she has practiced primarily as in-house counsel with the Regional Municipality of Wood Buffalo, advising on a broad range of municipal and governance matters.

Her professional background includes experience across different practice settings, providing her with a well-rounded view of how the law operates both inside and outside traditional private practice. This perspective has reinforced her belief that strong advocacy must be balanced with collaboration, a whole lot of common sense, and a dash of levity. Tiffany is a strong advocate for mental health and wellbeing within the profession and believes that sustainable lawyering depends on fostering realistic expectations, collegiality, and space for lawyers to thrive rather than merely survive.

Tiffany is interested in serving on the CBA Board of Directors because she believes the profession benefits from a diversity of practice perspectives. As the legal landscape continues to evolve, she sees value in ensuring that governance and advocacy efforts reflect the realities of lawyers working outside the billable-hour norm.
